Press Release # 12

3Y0X Peter I Dxpediton Team Update
 From: Team co-leaders
 Ralph Fedor, K4IR and Bob Allphin, K4UEE

The Peter I Dxpediton team members begin their 5 week long journey tomorrow, Monday February 7th. They will assemble in Punta Arenas, Chile as previously announced.

The last month has been full of last-minute changes. Our original boat could not be made ready in time, it was delayed 4 months and is still not ready to sail — and we learned that news less than a month ago. The decision was made to continue the effort for 2005 and not postpone. After scores of phone calls, faxes and other scrambling we were able to contract with another vessel, an offshore supply vessel named the "Cavendish Sea". We have also contracted another helicopter and a very experienced pilot — and we should be able to hold to the most recently announced schedule. We are confident the new vessel and helicopter are mission capable. The team will be cramped and more uncomfortable, but we are up to the task.

We will be underway from Ushuaia, Argentina on Friday Feb. 11th if all goes well. Depending on weather and sea conditions we expect to be off Peter I about February 17-18th.

The Peter I DXpedition will be on the ice for two weeks and hope to make 100,000 contacts.

Please follow our progress on our website: www.peterone.com
